

It has been a pleasure the past few months beng free of the harrassment of telemarketers. It would be a great injustice to subject us to these calls again. If I want to purchase something I will go out and get it on my own. I don't need people calling me and trying to sell stuff to me on the phone. It is bad enough that spam emails clog up my email inbox, at least keep my phone lines harrassment free.